November Newsletter

Principal's Message:

I consider myself extremely fortunate to be working within such an understanding and supportive school community. We all continue to experience challenging situations in both our professional and personal lives throughout the pandemic. Our trusting and supportive relationships will continue to guide us through these polarizing times. I want to share my gratitude and thank everyone for focusing on the growth and success of our students. We will continue to model respect for one another to keep the school environment a safe and inclusive space.

Communicable Disease Plan Update:

The District CDP Plan was updated on October 1st, 2021. Here is the link if you are interested:

Weather:

As fall is transitioning into winter, please send your children prepared for the colder weather. We will continue to maximize our learning and playing time outside as it is proving to be beneficial for student well-being. If you need any help with acquiring winter clothing for your child, please reach out to the school for support.

Student/Parent/Teacher Conferences:

Our Student/Parent/Teacher conferences were yet another example of our strong school community. It was so great to have parents back in the school being led by their proud children. We have missed you! Thank you for following the District's CDP by wearing your masks, signing in/out and sanitizing your hands. The participation rate was very high as each family chose what type of conference worked best for them. If you were unable to connect with your child's teacher, virtually or in-person, please contact them to arrange an alternative time during the upcoming week.
