A Vernon school trustee is pushing the district to make air quality assessments available at all schools .

Jen Comazzetto says the smoke's impact on student's health should not be ignored especially given the unprecedented wildfires that have scorched the Okanagan the past three years.

" With the smoke that we have had in the Okanagan the past three years we were actually at a level that would of been considered a crisis," said Comazzetto."

She urged the district to look into installing HEPA filters to help purify the air.
